The decision to invest the economic resources which the Department makes available to the library every year to buy databases is based on the desire to build a library that looks at future and supports scientific research.

For this purpose, the Document Delivery is very active so relative supply of articles or parts of books within 15% (Copyright), both incoming (requests received from other libraries), and outgoing (requests made to other ones), for a total that is about 2000 exchanges every year. The librarians finally are working on a project to realize a website of their own library, adapting it to the principles of the Minerva Project and the W3C consortium for accessibility.
